

Services for the Legal and Regulatory Communities

Litigation and regulatory proceedings within the energy industry frequently involve complex technical issues that require highly specialized, objective professional judgments. R.J. Rudden Associates has assisted numerous law firms by providing technical support and expert testimony on energy-related matters. We provide the same expert services to in-house counsels and regulatory affairs departments. Our involvement in precedent-setting litigation has encompassed such areas as deregulation, energy economics, contracting, tariff design, ratemaking, utility bankruptcy, and nuclear and other energy-related actions. Rudden consultants have demonstrated their technical expertise in testimony before state regulatory bodies, Federal Commissions, civil courts, the U.S. Federal Bankruptcy Court, several Canadian Provincial Energy Boards and the Canadian National Energy Board.
